

Mr. Roger Diwan is a Vice President for IHS Markit Energy and heads a dedicated research team that provides integrated energy advisory to the financial sector.

He has over 25 years of experience in advising financial institutions on strategies in the oil and gas markets, energy trends and companies' strategy, with a renewed focus on the capital dimension of the energy transition.

Mr. Diwan leads a team of analysts and strategists to advise over 150 Asset Managers, Hedge Funds and Private Equity firms by providing customized analysis on market developments for oil, gas, power, and renewables, with a focus on spending, company strategies and capital markets developments. He leads a multi-disciplinary research team dedicated to deliver energy insights and fundamental analysis to the financial community. Recently, his work has focused on the risks of under-investment for oil during the energy transition, the capital transition challenges that energy systems face in the next 10 years, but also all current energy geopolitical questions facing oil, gas and the manufacturing of renewables.

Mr. Diwan holds a Bachelor of Arts from the Sorbonne University and master's degrees from the Institut d'Etudes Politiques of Paris and the Johns Hopkins University School of Advanced International Studies in Washington, D.C.
